TWO NEIGHBORHOOD
BEAUTIFICATION EVENTS

BRAKE FOR SUNFLOWERS:
T Street Parks and Garden
Clean Up

SATURDAY | APRIL 16 |
9:00AM – NOON

Last year's florabundant plantings of pollinator attractors like sunflowers and milkweed, at the T Street Parks, need to be tidied up. Spring rains have been great for our trees, but likewise for weeds! Join the DCCA Parks crew on Saturday April 16, from 9am to noon, for light gardening and neighborhood chitchat. Please bring your own gloves, hat, and sunscreen as needed. Rakes and whatnot will be provided.

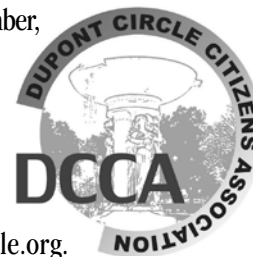

MULCH ADO: Northeast Dupont Spruce Up
SATURDAY | APRIL 23 | 9:00AM – NOON

ANC Commissioners Nicole Mann and Noah Smith joined forces with DCCA, Councilmember Jack Evans' Office and other local partners for a general spruce up. There will be spreading of mulch on tree boxes and ferreting out of trash wherever it may hide. Great fun for one and all. Please join us for some heavy lifting or delicate picking. Your choice! Bring gloves, hat and sunscreen as needed. Mulch and trashbags will be provided.

FOR BOTH EVENTS: Meet at the white benches in the people park north of the dog park (the triangle between 17th, T & New Hampshire).

THE ADVENTUROUS LIFE OF ISABEL ANDERSON | MARCH 24 – SEPTEMBER 18, 2016 | EXHIBITION

Philanthropist. War nurse. Political commentator. World traveler. Patriot. Author. Arts patron. Isabel Anderson filled her life with pursuits that both fulfilled and challenged the expectations for a woman of her generation. Anderson wrote more than forty books, delighting children with fantastical tales and adults with accounts of her many adventures. Her 1938 donation of Anderson House to the Society of the Cincinnati spurred its growth as a public institution and gave the organization a prominent home in the nation's capital.

This exhibition features nearly fifty paintings, photographs, documents, and other artifacts that illuminate the full life of Isabel Anderson. Highlights include portraits of Anderson from the age of nineteen to forty-nine, her wedding gown, the scrapbook she kept of her participation in the 1912 presidential campaign and Republican National Convention, medals and mementoes documenting her service with the American Red Cross and selections of the books she wrote. (L) Portrait of Isabel Anderson by Christian M. Ross, 1896 (R) Photograph by William H. Towles, 1918

ANDERSON HOUSE | Museum Hours: Tuesday–Saturday 10 AM–4 PM | Sunday 12 PM–4PM | Free

2016 ANNUAL VISION AWARDS: NOMINATIONS OPEN UNTIL APRIL 29

The Committee of 100 advocates for responsible planning, land use, and historic preservation in Washington, D.C, while also responding to the special challenges of 21st-Century development. Since 2001, it has annually presented Vision Awards to recognize projects, programs, plans, and the work of organizations and individuals that are visionary, innovative and provide a notable benefit to the District of Columbia. The awards ceremony will be held June 16, 2016 at 6:00 pm at the Women's National Democratic Club—located in Dupont Circle—at 1526 New Hampshire Ave NW, and will be followed by a cocktail reception.

To learn more about the Vision Awards and to submit a nomination for consideration, please visit the Committee's web page at: <http://committeeof100.net> and click on Visions 2016.
